

Yesterday I traveled down to Boston to stand in solidarity with the 99% and Occupy Boston, as well as participate in a first time "live from Occupy Boston" broadcast with Jeff Santos from Revolution Boston on his Rebuild America radio program and discuss the Occupy movement and issues affecting everyday citizens of Massachusetts.

Despite Revolution Boston's diligence in obtaining the necessary permits to go live in Dewey Square, the police department wouldn't allow Jeff to move forward with his show. Once again, we see the establishment impinge upon our freedom to peaceably assemble and our right to free speech.

Stand with me and the 99% by contributing today! Click here to give $5, $25, $50, $99 or more to fuel our campaign to stand up for working families.

We know this race will be tough. Scott Brown has amassed a large sum of money to smear Democrats. Let's show him that people power always prevails against corporations and special interests.

Let's continue our fight for the 99%. It is far from over. Massachusetts needs a fighter who will not waver on the important issues for hard working Americans.

Thank you for your support.
