

Dear Friends,

Today, my campaign is announcing the re-launch of our Social Media campaign. Facebook, Twitter, YouTube and other online social mediums have quickly become mainstays of the Political scene, allowing for individuals to be constantly updated with the campaign's latest news and with fresh, instant information.

I am in this race for the same exact reason as when I jumped in seven months ago. To fight for the people against the powerful. When I see that something needs to be done, like real representation of the people, I jump in and get to work. And I have the track record of doing and winning to prove it. No poll testing the waters, no recycled poll tested platitudes.

When you have a vision and a passion to advocate for people, you don't test, you just do. I had the guts to enter this race with no machine, and no insider backing. But I did have the most important thing... the true blue support of real people like you dedicated to making our democracy work for all of us.

Please click on the Facebook, Twitter and YouTube buttons towards the bottom and join the conversation!

I'll be in touch with you all again soon.

Respectfully,

Marisa DeFranco
